

Common abbreviations

Last updated by | Aleksey Glukharev | 16 May 2025 at 03:58 GMT+4

We might be commonly using these abbreviations in Teams, commit messages, etc, for things that are either too long or repeat too often. If the abbreviation is not listed, it might be better to use the full version instead, at least in the beginning of the message, so that everyone can understand the message better.

OLT - OrderLineTruck

LH - Lease Hauler

UOM - Unit of Measure

QB - QuickBooks

DTD - Dump Truck Dispatcher

Job - while not an abbreviation, this is commonly used to refer to a combination of an OrderLine and an Order. I.e. we have a Create Job modal that has fields of an Order and an OrderLine, and it just calls EditOrder and EditOrderLine internally to create or modify both.